Behind the music and art project Cibratrack we have Erica Hallström, a Swedish artist known for her unique blend of organic and electronic sounds. With thought-provoking lyrics and an experimental approach to production her music often describes feelings from a different angle, exploring conflicts within ourselves. The music overturn the concepts of sanity and madness, often ending up in the darker corners of humanity.

"There are already more than enough talented artists out there who specialize in love and unrequited love in particular. My aim is to try to describe the complexity that life also entails".
